

Holy Spirit Prayer of St. Augustine

Breathe in me, O Holy Spirit,
That my thoughts may all be holy.

Act in me, O Holy Spirit,
That my work, too, may be holy.

Draw my heart, O Holy Spirit,
That I love but what is holy.

Strengthen me, O Holy Spirit,
To defend all that is holy.

Guard me, then, O Holy Spirit,
That I always may be holy.

Message from Father Rodrigo:

“Veni Sancte Spiritus”

The 50th day after the resurrection of Jesus. The descent of the Holy Spirit upon the apostles. The birth of the Church.

Today, the Church in the whole world rejoices on the event that open the flood gate of heaven’s grace to the first community of Christ’s disciples.

The Pentecost is the empowering of Christ’s disciples to go out and spread the good news.

The Holy Spirit is the breath of God living in each one of us. It is the Holy Spirit who makes known to us the love of God that is present in each person in the world. The Holy Spirit is our advocate, our strength, our energy.

As we celebrate the coming of the Holy Spirit in our hearts, let us cling to his power. May we welcome the movement of God’s Spirit in our lives and listen to his voice within.

Come, Holy Ghost, send down those beams, which sweetly flow in silent streams from thy bright throne above.

MEDITATION:

"Come, Holy Spirit!" Yes, in any discernment of God's call, we need to call on the Holy Spirit to come to fill and inspire us. Do we think to call on the Holy Spirit? Pentecost reminds us to do this not just on one feast during the year . . . but every day.

THE HOLY SPIRIT AND THE CHURCH

(in the teaching of the Catechism of the Catholic Church)

The mission of Christ and the Holy Spirit is brought to completion in the Church, which is the Body of Christ and the Temple of the Holy Spirit. This joint mission, henceforth, brings Christ’s faithful to share in his communion with the Father in the Holy Spirit. The Spirit prepares men and goes out to them with his grace, in order to draw them to Christ. The Spirit manifests the risen Lord to them, recalls his word to them and opens their minds to the understanding of his Death and Resurrection. He makes present the mystery of Christ, supremely in the Eucharist, in order to reconcile them, to bring them into communion with God, that they may “bear much fruit.” [. . .]

Thus, the Church’s mission is not an addition to that of Christ and the Holy spirit, but is its sacrament: in her whole being and in all her members, the Church is sent to announce, bear witness make present and spread the mystery of the communion of the Holy Trinity.

Because the Holy Spirit is the anointing of Christ, it is Christ who, as the head of the Body, pours out the Spirit among his members to nourish, heal, and organize them in their mutual functions, to give them life, send them to bear witness, and associate them to his self-offering to the Father and to his intercession for the whole world. Through the Church’s sacraments, Christ communicates his Holy and sanctifying Spirit to the members of his Body.

These “mighty works of God” offered to believers in the sacraments of the Church, bear their fruit in the new life in Christ, according to the Spirit.

“The Spirit helps us in our weakness; for we do not know how to pray as we ought, but the Spirit himself intercedes with sighs too deep for words.” The Holy Spirit, the artisan of God’s works, is the master of prayer. (CCC #737-41,
